ASHLAND LOSS. HALF MILLION

Northern Wisconsin Visited By Cloudburst.
This Afternoon. White River Dam Out.

GALVESTON IS ALSO UNDER WATER

Texas City Sands Out R port That Wind Is Blowing Sixty
Miles An Hour... Waves Jumping The Sea
Wall... Part Of City Under Water.

By Associated Press.
Milwaukee, Wis., July 21.—An Evening Wisconsin cloudburst in northern Wisconsin with a loss estimated at a half million dollars.
Power Plant Gone.
The power plant at White River was washed out complete. The plant furnished power and light to the city of Ashland and the loss is estimated at a hundred thousand dollars.
State Hatchery Broken.
The state fish hatchery near Bayfield is nearly washed away and millions of fish have been carried into the lake.
The North-Western Wisconsin Central. Northern Pacific and Omaha trains are all held up and no train can get into Bayfield or Ashland from any direction.
Imperial City.
The dam breaking at White River imperils the German people and they have been warned to leave their homes. The rain is still falling.
Several persons are reported to have been drowned at Odanah.
In Minnesota.
Twin Valley, Minn., July 21.—Heavy rains have overflowed the Wild River and March creek, entirely submerging the village of Redberg, two miles north of here. The entire village is in great danger of being swept away.
From Louisville.
Louisville, Ky., July 21.—The weather bureau today reports a serious tropical storm raging on the gulf coast accompanied by a marked fall in the barometer.
Galveston sends in the report that a wind is blowing there at the rate of forty-eight miles an hour, increasing in velocity, and heavy rain is falling there.

More Details.

Houston, Tex., July 21.—The sensational reports of a storm of hurricane proportions at Galveston have reached here over the telephone wire, all other wires being reported down.
Two bathing pavilions and hotel's bathing places have been swept away.

The surf is jumping over the sea walls in several places and the wind has reached a velocity of sixty miles per hour.

More Reports.

New York, July 21.—The Western Union Telegraph company has lost all its direct wire connection with Galveston. Just before the wires failed the operator at Galveston reported a terrible storm raging and that there was intense excitement in the city. Some parts of the city were then under water.

Hope Worst Passed.

A message from Galveston at two fifteen this afternoon says that wind obtained velocity of sixty miles during the morning, and some of the streets were covered with water two to four feet. Later the wind shifted, and diminished somewhat in velocity, leading to a hope of further damage being avoided.

Has Passed.

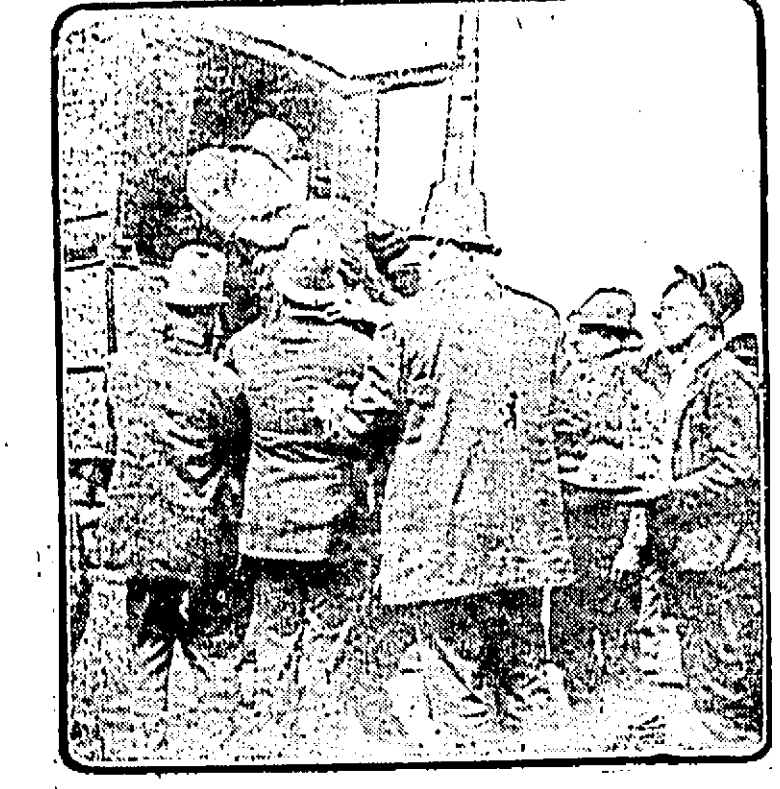

Houston, Texas, July 21.—The hurricane which struck the Texas coast today, swept westward from the Gulf. The reports indicate damage as far south as Matagorda bay. No loss of life is reported.

NOTED CATHOLIC CARDINAL IS SEVENTY YEARS OF AGE

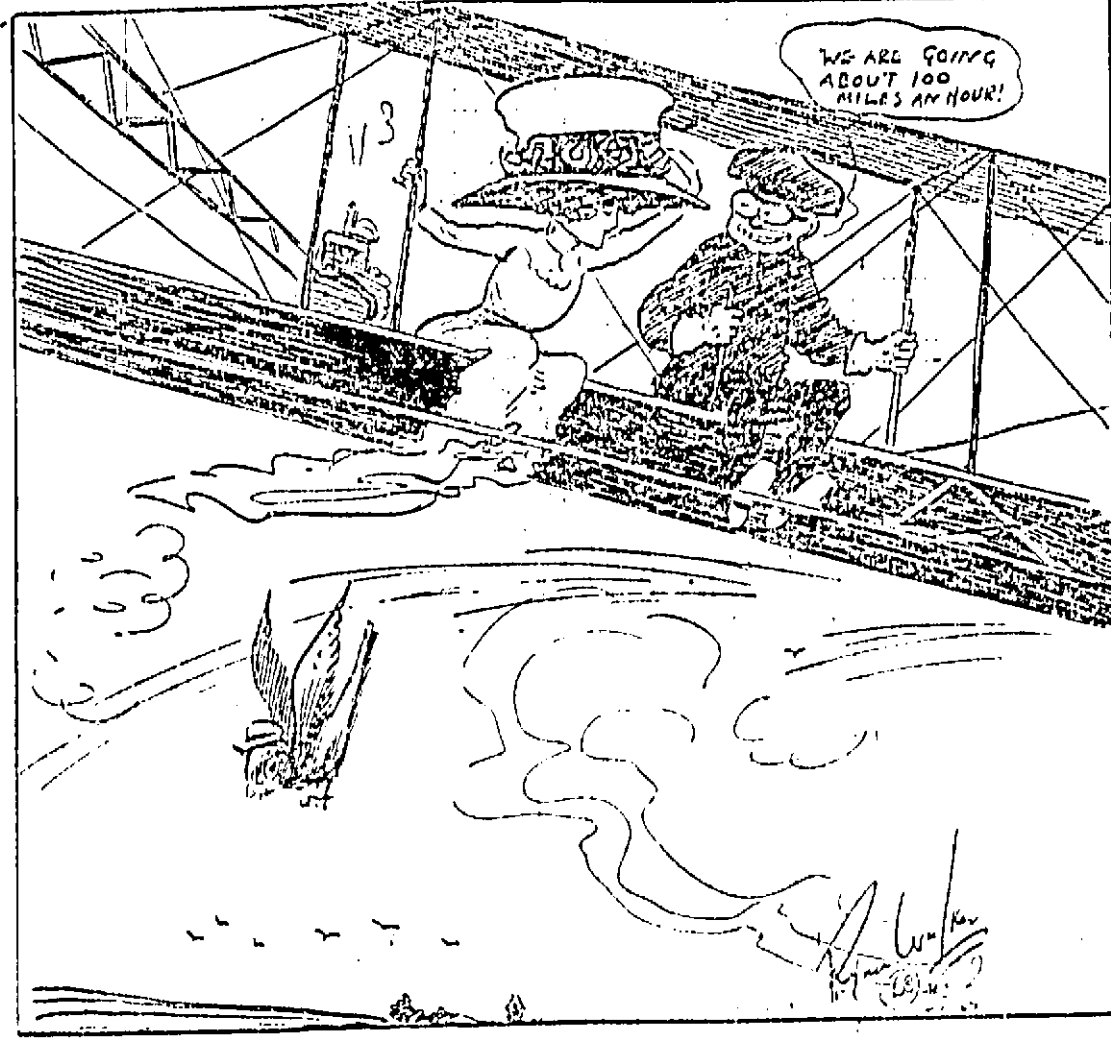

Rome, July 21.—Cardinal Satolli, who was the first apostolic delegate to the United States, celebrated his seventieth birthday today. Among the many messages of congratulation received by him during the day were a number from prelates and laymen of the Catholic church in America. The Cardinal, who has been seriously ill for some time, is reported now as much improved, and strong hopes are entertained for his complete recovery.

Dentists at Asbury Park.
Asbury Park, N. J., July 21.—The New Jersey State Dental Society held its thirty-ninth annual meeting in Asbury Park today with an attendance of members from all parts of the state. The feature of the opening session was the annual address of the president, Frank G. Gregory of Newark. The meeting will continue over Thursday and Friday.

FIGHT LIQUOR LAW OF OKLAHOMA STATE

(By Associated Press.)

Guthrie, Okla., July 21.—An injunction to prevent the state from interfering in the transportation of liquor shipped into the state from depots, warehouses and express offices to residences came up for hearing in the District Court at Oklahoma City today. The action was brought by the Oklahoma Distributors Company, and is directed against the state. The feature of the opening session was the annual address of the president, Frank G. Gregory of Newark. The meeting will continue over Thursday and Friday.

NOTABLE GATHERING IS HELD IN MARINETTE

Public Questions of Importance To Be Discussed By Badger State Mayors and City Officials.
(By Associated Press.)

Marinette, Wis., July 21.—The eleventh annual conference of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities opened here today with a large and representative attendance. The conference is a notable gathering of mayors and other officials who share a common desire to secure honest and economical administration of affairs in their respective cities.

An address of welcome by Mayor Fisher of Marinette opened the gathering this afternoon. Mayor Horlick of Racine responded for the visitors and ex-Mayor Holmes of Port Washington presented his annual address, a president of the association. This was followed by the report of the secretary, W. G. Krehbiel of Madison. Several papers on road and pavement were presented and the session was brought to a close with a discussion of the advisability of changing the date for the payment of taxes from January to July. Numerous other questions of public interest are scheduled for consideration tomorrow and Friday.

PLAY TRAGEDY WAS ENACTED IN REALITY

Villain Was A Real Knave and Killed Hero, Shot Heroine, and Attempted Suicide.
(By Associated Press.)

St. Petersburg, July 21.—Word comes from Saratoff of a terrible tragedy enacted there a few nights ago on the stage of the National theatre in full view of a large audience. In the third act of the play which was being given the heroine is shot by a rejected suitor, who arrives on the scene soon afterwards. On the night of the tragedy, M. Tschukoff, who was acting the villain, made no attempt to shoot the girl, but put a bullet through the heart of her lover, who was waiting for her cue to appear, then shot the girl, and finally turned the revolver against himself and fired. Several women in the audience fainted, and a great many other persons sustained injuries in the panic that ensued while endeavoring to force their way out of the theatre. The motive of the crime appears to have been jealousy, the actors having readily represented the parts they played.

NAVAL WEDDINGS ATTRACT ATTENTION ON BOTH COASTS

Captain's Daughter Weds Lieut. Commander At Annapolis.—Herron-Toaz Nuptials.
(By Associated Press.)

Washington, D. C., July 21.—A notable and brilliant gathering of naval officers and their families attended the wedding today of Miss Elizabeth C. Badger, daughter of Captain and Mrs. Charles J. Badger, and Lieut. Commander Henry F. Bryan of the Naval Academy, Captain Badger, father of the bride, was until recently superintendent of the Annapolis naval academy and is one of the most popular officers in the service.

STANLEY KETCHEL INJURED IN AN AUTOMOBILE SMASHUP

(By Associated Press.)

San Francisco, Cal., July 21.—Stanley Ketchel, the champion middleweight pugilist, was painfully injured yesterday in a collision between an automobile in which he was riding and a wagon.

HUDSON'S HALF MOON AT RIVER PAGEANT

Craft Modeled After Explorers Ship Arrived From Holland On Steamship Today.
(By Associated Press.)

New York, July 21.—The Half Moon, looking just as she did when she came into New York bay and rounded the Hudson river 300 years ago, is due to arrive here from Holland tomorrow. This time, however, the trim little craft is without Henry Hudson and his cabin crew. Moreover, instead of crossing the Atlantic under her own sail, she is being brought over on the deck of a steamship.

The vessel is an exact replica of the boat in which Hudson sailed when he discovered the Hudson river. She is being brought over from Holland to take part in the great naval pageant that will be held in celebration of the tercentenary of the discovery of the Hudson river. Upon arriving here the vessel will be taken to the Brooklyn navy yard to receive her final equipment.

BUY A VILLAGE TO CUT DOWN EXPENSES

Krupp's Decide It Is Cheaper To Purchase Town Than To Pay For Damages To Houses.
(By Associated Press.)

Berlin, July 21.—The small village of Schlagerbruecker, has been bought outright by the Krupp, who intend to raise it to the ground. The village is located near the great Krupp gun factories, and damage has often been done by projectiles during the testing of the big guns. Compensation for this damage has been a big item of the firm's expenditure, and it was decided that it would be cheaper in the end to put the village out of existence.

ATHLETIC FETE IS PLANNED FOR AUGUST

At Levering Pushing Big Sporting Enterprise To Be Held In Stadium At London.
(By Associated Press.)

New York, July 21.—A despatch from London gives particulars of a great athletic project which it is proposed to carry out in the Stadium near London which was the scene of the Olympic games a year ago. An international syndicate with Al Levering, well known on two continents as a manager of big athletic and sporting enterprises, at its back, has offered to lease the stadium for one week during the latter part of August or September.

ARE OPPOSED TO A FIGHT WITH MOORS

Spaniards Seek To Prevent the Sending of Troops to Africa For Moorish War.
(By Associated Press.)

Madrid, July 21.—Great excitement prevails in the Spanish capital today. The population is clearly opposed to the Spanish-Moorish war in Africa. There were several demonstrations in front of the war ministry today, and much rioting in streets in which women took a prominent part.

MANY LONDON PEOPLE VISIT NAVAL FLEET

Crowds Go On Board Boats Anchored In Thames.—Sailors and Officers Royally Entertained.
(By Associated Press.)

London, July 21.—It is estimated that nearly half a million Londoners have visited the great naval fleet since the vessels dropped anchor in the Thames at Southend the first of this week. The great battleship Dreadnought has been the chief centre of attraction for the crowds. Yesterday the Lord Mayor and the Corporation of London paid an official visit to the fleet and today the visit was returned by a body of more than 1,000 sailors. The sailors arrived at the Liverpool street station and were enthusiastically cheered by enormous crowds as they marched along the Embankment and through the Strand and Fleet street to the Guildhall, where they were greeted by the Lord Mayor and other official representatives of the City of London. Tomorrow General Sir William May, Commander-in-Chief of the Home Fleet, is to be entertained at the Guildhall, together with 500 officers of the warships.

JAPANESE BUILDING AT FAIR DEDICATED

Replica Of Common Jap House Of Tenth Century Houses Exhibits Of That Nation.
(By Associated Press.)

Seattle, Wash., July 21.—Today at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific exposition was made notable by the dedication of the Japanese building, which houses one of the most attractive exhibits of the entire fair. The dedication was accompanied by interesting ceremonies in which Hajime Ota, commissioner general from Japan to the exposition, and President J. E. Chilberg of the exposition company were the leading participants. After the arches an elaborate luncheon was served to several hundred invited guests. The building, which is a replica of the common Japanese residence of the tenth century, was handsomely decorated with flags and flowers.

SUIT IS SETTLED IN PLAINTIFF'S FAVOR

Suit Brought Last May by George Drexel Was Settled in Court This Morning.
(By Associated Press.)

In municipal court this morning at eleven o'clock, the civil suit brought by George Drexel against the C. St. and St. Paul R. Co. was settled in favor of the plaintiff when Atty. S. G. Dunwiddie, acting for Mr. Drexel, accepted the tender of the railroad, Judge Field rendering judgment on the payment of $70 and costs, amounting to $74.11.

WANT TO FINISH ALL SCHEDULES

DESIRE TO HAVE THEM TO PRESENT TO THE PRESIDENT TONIGHT.
COMMITTEE WORKING TODAY

Cal'net Meets Today to Discuss Cutting Down Expenses For Coming Year.
(By Associated Press.)

Washington, D. C., July 21.—Determined to present to the president tonight a program for the settlement of the dispute over raw materials, or at least to define the issues so sharply that the executive may be put in a position to weigh the merits of the contravenient points, the tariff conference today took up in earnest the five big subjects, iron ore, lumber, oil, hides, and coal that had been held in abeyance by the attitude of the administration.

MILLER HELD BY THE GRAND JURY

VERDICT THIS MORNING FOLLOWS TESTIMONY GIVEN.
MRS. SAYLER IS IN JAIL

Wife of Murdered Man and Her Father Held an Accessory—Trial Is In November Next.
(By Associated Press.)

Waukegan, Ill., July 21.—The grand jury today indicted Dr. W. L. Miller, charged with the killing of Banker Saylor at Crescent City. Indictments were also returned against the other prisoners, Mrs. Saylor, the dead man's wife and her father, both of whom are in jail.
Dr. Miller is preparing a strong defense and will employ Chicago attorneys when his trial comes in November. The special grand jury was impaneled to investigate the case at once in order to satisfy the demands of the people, who were crazed to the point of violence over the affair. Sym-was held today to further discuss the matter of cutting down the estimates of the various departments for the coming fiscal year. This is according to statements of several cabinet members before entering the consultation room with President Taft.

START ACTION TO HAVE ACCOUNTING

Wausau Oil and Gas Company Is In Legal Difficulties.
(By Associated Press.)

Wausau, Wis., July 21.—An action has been started against Joseph W. Coates and Richard E. Powers of this city, by the other stockholders of the Wausau Oil and Gas company.

DROVE OUT COMPANY AT REVOLVER POINT

Mrs. Robert Gates of Milwaukee Makes Sensational Charges Against Husband in Divorce Suit.
(By Associated Press.)

Milwaukee, July 21.—That her husband, Robert L. Gates, came home today with a man from the Rockwell Mission one afternoon while she was entertaining some women friends and drove them out of the house at the point of a revolver was one of the charges made by Mrs. Robert Gates at the hearing of her divorce suit by Judge Halsey this morning. Her husband's company stayed in the house with him for the next two months, she testified, and she had to cook his meals during this time.

HOLD SUSPECT FOR EASTERN POLICE

(By Associated Press.)

Oakland, Cal., July 21.—Frank W. Newberg, formerly manager of the Boston Branch of the Fox River Butter company, of Aurora, Ill., wanted by the Boston police for the alleged larceny of the firm's funds, is under arrest here, held pending the arrival of extradition papers.

STAUTON TO VOTE AN OPTION

(By Associated Press.)

Stanton, Va., July 21.—A house-to-house canvass and several rowing rallies today marked the close of the vigorous local option campaign that has stirred this city for several weeks past. Tomorrow the voter will decide at the polls whether Stanton is to be "wet" or "dry." Several such elections have been held here, and have always been carried by the "wet" two years ago, however, by the narrow majority of twenty-four votes. The anti-liquor forces have waged a hard fight and are hopeful of victory.

GAZETTE'S BIG EVENT FORGING AHEAD AS THE TALK OF THE HOUR

Elegant Prizes Offered Appeal to Every Class—Enthusiasm and Spirit of Big Event Reaches Everyone—Of- fice Open Evenings.

It is advisable for every contestant to keep an accurate record of the number of votes he sends to The Gazette. To avoid misunderstanding it is well to note the number of votes contained in a package, and to insert a slip designating the amount. Votes are counted accurately, and in case the slip does not agree with the results secured by the counters, the contestant will be notified immediately, thereby saving the difficulty likely to arise should a contestant feel he has not received credit for the number of votes due him.

Those interested in The Gazette's great contest are beginning to bustle for votes in earnest, and from now on each day will show an increase in interest, and the number of votes cast for the various candidates. It is easy to secure votes if you are in earnest and desire to win one of the prizes offered. Go among your friends and tell them that you want to win and you will be surprised at the ease with which votes are secured. All it takes to win is a little perseverance and the desire to win. These prizes will be given to some one and you might as well be the fortunate person.

Send in your name or that of your friend at once to the contest department and your friends will do the rest. When sending in coupons, kindly cut them out as neatly as possible, write the name plainly and in an envelope, or enclose them in an envelope. Contest managers have temperance as well as other people, and when the votes come in tied in a knot and look as though they had been cut out with an ax it is exasperating.

Of the scores of young women who have entered the race for one of the many prizes offered in The Gazette's voting contest, it is interesting to note by what features each are attracted. What They Say.

One says: "Well, I would like to win one of those beautiful Newman Bros. prizes, but I am afraid I will not have more votes than I can get." Another: "I am just determined to have one of those scholarships in the Janesville Business College."

To a great many who have expressed themselves, the prospect of winning a diamond ring or gold watch is certainly worth working for.

Many young women will be saying in a few weeks: "Oh, if I only had asked my friends to help me win one of those prizes, I would have been right in the race and have a good chance to win one of these fine prizes." The Gazette never does things by halves and the young ladies who win these prizes are going to be well taken care of.

Make up your mind right now that you are going to be one of the winners, and strive to attain that end. You can do it if you try. Do not wait until the last moment, but start right now. If your name is already entered in the list and you have not done much as yet, begin now. You will never regret the time and effort spent in the contest.

At present the candidates are just beginning to get their start and feeling the pulse of their friends to get their strength.

A number of subscriptions have already come in, and tomorrow will see more votes poured in than any other day of the great Gazette contest. Coupons clipped from The Gazette are received daily in large numbers and many votes which are issued on subscriptions are sent out to subscribers paying their accounts. The first girl to ask them will get the votes.

Any young woman who desires to enter her name may write to the contest manager and she will at once be placed on the free subscription list to receive the paper at her house every day until the close of the contest, and will be furnished with receipt blanks for securing subscriptions.

In past contests conducted in this city, the voting of ballots purchased from other contestants have often times swung the prizes away from those to whom they justly belonged. This practice is absolutely prohibited and cannot possibly happen by the system under which this contest is conducted.

Not money, but the candidates and friends win these prizes. Please call and have the important point thoroughly explained.

Remember, candidates, that each and every nomination blank voted bearing your name adds 25 votes to your credit, so ask your friends to save the nomination blanks for you as well as the coupons.

Do not get discouraged because some one else has a few more votes than you have—this is just the beginning and a little effort put forth on your part will put you to the head of the list.

A sure winner is the candidate that pleases the assistance of her friends and organizes her campaign.

Any information desired can be had by writing or telephoning the Contest Manager, and he will call or write you.

Study the following instructions carefully, as lack of space will not permit such a complete explanation after this issue.

The Prizes.

Great care has been exercised by The Gazette in the purchase of practical and valuable prizes for this great event. The three prizes to be given away are the celebrated Newman Bros. The instruments are of the highest standard. They have been manufactured for many years and are sold under guarantee in this by H. P. Nott. Call at his store and inspect them. The three diamond rings and three gold watches have been purchased from Olin & Olson, whose diamonds are perfect, while the stones and the watches are 17 jewel high movements in twenty-five years cases. The 12-month combined course business college scholarships have been purchased from the Janesville Business College and the winners of these practical prizes may attend either the Hotel or Janesville College.

You Can Win.

Any young lady is eligible to compete in this great contest and popular vote, as explained in this issue, will determine those who are successful.

This contest affords an excellent opportunity for the young ladies of Janesville and vicinity, to win either a place in a handsome piece of jewelry or a business education at the expense of The Gazette.

The ambitious girl who is quick to realize the advantage of this exceptional opportunity should see that her name is sent to the contest manager, and follow the instructions that appear daily. And, remember, to win, you must receive the largest number of votes, according to the conditions of the contest.

After your nomination, call on and interest all your friends and by extemporized and energetic action induce as many as possible, not only to cast their votes for you, but to interest their respective friends in your behalf.

The easiest and surest way to win is for candidates to ask their friends not only to give them the nomination blanks, but to write arrangements or to prepare their subscriptions.

Your friends will be glad to accommodate you, as this costs the subscriber nothing extra.

The settlement of these subscriptions entitles you to a special ballot which can be voted any time during the contest.

Any person who desires to vote, in this contest, may do so by properly filling out and voting the coupons that appear in each issue of The Gazette, but these coupons are good for only ten days from date of publication and will not be counted after the date printed on them.

For special ballots, which are issued for every subscription payment, may be cast any time during the contest, and they will count their full value for the candidate whose name they bear.

People living in one district may vote for a candidate that lives in another; they are not confined to their own particular district.

At the close of the contest the successful ones will receive orders from The Gazette for their respective prizes and they may use or dispose of them in accordance to their individual liking. They are transferable.

Instructions For Voting.

Send to the Contest Manager the name of the young lady whom you desire to nominate and secure one of these valuable prizes. The name of the party making the nomination will not be divulged if so desired.

With a little encouragement on your part you may win one of these magnificent high-grade prizes: a beautiful diamond ring, a scholarship or a gold watch. See that her name is entered, then please, her your hearty support.

No candidate is barred because she is not at present or never has been a Gazette subscriber.

Doubting would-be candidates, enter on the start; present your name at once and your host of friends will do the rest.

September 4.

The surprise of September 4 will be the fact that you won with such little amount of effort put forth on your part.

This issue of The Gazette contains the names of ladies competing, with their respective number of votes.

From now on, votes will be counted at 8 a. m. each day and the results of the count printed the following afternoon.

In behalf of those interested a short article will appear each day which will enable them to keep in close touch with the contest and those competing.

The articles will be brief and will not interfere with or crowd out the regular amount of high-class news, for which The Gazette is noted.

Each contestant is to receive this paper, free of charge, beginning from the date their name is presented to the Contest Manager and continuing up to the closing night of the contest.

Twelve young ladies of Janesville and vicinity are going to be made happy, and it is up to you, readers of Janesville and vicinity, to decide whether there are to be.

Division of Territory.

The division of territory will be made as follows:

District No. 1 includes all territory inside of the city limits of Janesville.

District No. 2 includes all territory outside of the city limits of Janesville and west of Rock River.

District No. 3 includes all territory outside of the city limits of Janesville and east of Rock River.

Nominations will be accepted after this date, but a great advantage is gained by having your name among those of the first announcements, as your friends may pledge their assistance to another candidate, not knowing of your intentions.

The Securing of Ballots.

The selling of ballots will not be permitted.

Everyone is eligible to vote; all old subscribers, either paying back subscriptions or paying in advance, also new subscribers who pay in advance, are given a special ballot, which is good any time during the contest.

The sale of votes which will appear in the page announcement of this issue, will determine the number of votes the subscriber is entitled to.

The coupons returned are good for their given amount.

The full amount of money must be brought to the office of The Gazette, sent direct by mail to Contest Manager or paid local agents.

Open Evenings.

For the benefit of those who cannot call during business hours, this office and contest department will be open every evening until 8 o'clock.

JOHN FISHER WRITES FROM ON BOARD SHIP

Winner of Grand Prize of Gazette Contest Last Year Has Started on Trip Across Ocean.

John H. Fisher of the town of Conter, who last year won the grand prize in the popularity contest conducted by The Gazette, is on his way across the Atlantic, on his voyage across the Atlantic line in the steamship "Pomeranian." From Montreal the boat sailed down the beautiful St. Lawrence river to Quebec, leaving there and continuing down the river to the ocean and crossing to Havre, France, and then to London. From London he will continue six weeks of time. Mr. Fisher's expenses on the trip are paid by the Gazette Printing company. Below is a letter received from Mr. Fisher on board the ship:

On board the "Pomeranian," July 18, 8:30 a. m.

An exchange photo soon will send you a few lines. Had a fine trip from Chicago to Montreal. So many things different from the states, in both Canada and Quebec province, especially the small, rail-fenced fields, the orchards, large, unpainted buildings, the roofs of buildings of red brick and the roofs of the "Pomeranian" at 7:30 p. m. of the 16th and landed at Quebec at 3:30 p. m. on the 17th. I visited the Citadel, Place of Abraham, the Montigny railway station, where he told Dec. 31, 1917, and other places of interest. Went on board at 9:30 and we are well down the beautiful St. Lawrence this morning. The weather is fine. All is well on board. Will send you a souvenir list of passengers.

JOHN H. FISHER.

CONDITION STILL CRITICAL BUT NOT THOUGHT DANGEROUS

Little Paul Ambrose, Struck by An Automobile Yesterday Improves Very Slowly.

It was learned this afternoon that the condition of Paul Ambrose, the seven-year-old boy who was struck by an automobile while playing yesterday, is critical, though not considered dangerous. Thus far the little fellow has not been able to retain any food on his stomach. It is not thought that his skull was fractured but that he may have internal injuries.

CURRENT ITEMS.

Auto Parties: J. W. Wolf and party of Ft. Atkinson, George Jorgenson and J. C. Pinner of Milwaukee, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hall of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Canton, the Misses Marie Bergman, Katherine Canton, Lela Canton and Mr. H. Saunders of Edgerton, were automobile parties registered at the Grand Hotel last night.

TOES MASHED; TRIED TO JUMP ON TRAIN

Chicago Youth Attempted to "Bum" His Way—Cost Him Loss of Three Toes.

Albert Olson, a seventeen-year-old boy, who lives at 262 Eames street, Chicago, met with a serious accident at the Polo Point last night while attempting to steal a ride on North Western freight train No. 528, and as a result of the accident, has lost three toes of his right foot, which were so badly crushed that it was necessary to amputate them.

Olson, who was "bumming" his way, attempted to board the train, lost his hold on the grab bars, and fell in such a way that the wheels crushed the large toe and two small toes of his right foot besides lacerating the sole and upper surface of the foot. He was immediately conveyed to the hospital where Dr. James Mills, assisted by Dr. Woods, amputated the great toe and two of the smaller toes about eight o'clock last evening. This morning the patient is reported to be resting as comfortably as could be expected.

Olson's two companions, when they saw him fall beneath the train, made off as fast as their legs would carry them, evidently fearing that they might be held as a result of the accident.

CENTRAL FIGURES IN THE HERESY TRIAL.

Reading from top down, Prof. George D. Foster, Dr. William A. Matthews, Rev. Johnston Myers.

Chicago.—Prof. George Herman Foster of the University of Chicago is still a Baptist; at the least he has not been expelled from the Chicago Baptist Ministers' conference for heresy. It depends upon the personal attitude of the Baptist theologians as to whether he is in good denominational standing.

For the past week Professor Foster has been the center of severe criticisms, which were turned loose upon him by the resolution offered by Rev. Johnston Myers to throw him over the Baptist wall. There is an enormous difference of opinion as to Professor Foster's attitude in the matter. His many friends and supporters appear to think he is entirely vindicated of any charge of heresy, while the opposition contend that his writings and teachings are contrary to the Bible. During the trial it was brought out that he believes in the deity of Christ.

that he had never ridiculed religion or any of the forms of the church, that he had not considered himself a Unitarian because he accepted a Unitarian pulpit.

Just what the next move will be in this most interesting church trial of recent years is impossible to predict, but for the present Professor Foster will continue to write and preach as in the past.

WEAK BRAINS.

The president of the Wisconsin State Bankers Association says that during the past five years not a dollar has been lost by a depositor in a Wisconsin bank. There does not seem to be any ground on such a record as this for the guaranteeing of deposits. The fact is that Wisconsin has outgrown the necessity for making strong banks bear the burden of the weaker ones. Weak banks have no right to exist, and if they were eliminated, as they should be, when they fall below the standards of safe banking practice, the excuse for a law guaranteeing deposits would be wholly wanting.

A weak bank in the financial system of any state has no more right to continue in business than has a weak bridge in a public highway. The duty of the public authorities and of public opinion in the one case is the same as in the other. Once an element of weakness has developed, the defect in the structure is to be remedied without delay, so as to make it capable of bearing the full weight of its proper burden, or the thing should be closed up. The weak bank takes away legitimate business from the bank that is safe and does injury to the business as a whole by spreading general distrust. It should therefore, be put out of existence with no less expedition than we put out a fire or block up a highway or suspend traffic on a tumbledown bridge.

This is not a case in which sentiment, social standing of officials or hesitation to sacrifice an old institution, that has outlived its usefulness, can be considered. If a bank is weak it has either got to strengthen itself or go. The machinery of the law cannot be invoked too speedily.

ELLA GINGLES.

The acquittal of Ella Gingles, the little Irish lace-maker who was tried at Chicago on a charge of theft, astonishes no one. So favorable was the impression which she made upon the jury that there was a majority of two to one for her release on the first ballot, and on the third ballot all were for her acquittal but one. By holding out, this one juror managed to get into the verdict an opinion exculpating a person not formally on trial, but appearing as the complaining witness: "We, the jury, find the defendant not guilty, and we further find that the charges made against Miss Barretto were unfounded and are untrue." The friends of Miss Gingles are raising a fund to send her back to Ireland, where the white slave traffic is unknown, and where she will doubtless be happier than amid the hurly-burly and continual strife which characterize life in Chicago.

LIKE HISTORY.

Traditions of the American southwest in the period immediately following the Civil War are recalled by the information from Germany that brigands held the highway between Augustow and Lipsk on the Russo-German frontier, one day last week, and captured fifty or sixty travelers, taking all their money. Most of the victims were horsemen, carrying large sums, and the total haul is estimated at $25,000. That such things can be in an old settled country seems astonishing to Americans, and is probably in part attributable to the political convulsions of the past four years in Russia.

A GRATIFICATION.

It must be a source of gratification to the City Attorney to discover that in seeking to bring the Janesville traction company to justice, he has struck a popular vein. Citizens, business men, professional men, even stockholders in the company all rejoice that there is a prospect of something being done at last. One has but to ride on the second hand cars with worn out motors and flat wheels to discover that nothing that can be said as to their condition will be untrue. Beside that they are ruining the streets and a menace to public health and safety. Go to it Brother Attorney and give the City Attorney your backing by voting to grant him power to seek to have the franchise revoked or conditions bettered.

Were John D. other than a reckless penniless who takes no heed of the morrow, his cynical compatriots might become suspicious that in transferring millions to his son and Chicago University, he was in part inspired by the knowledge that the inheritance tax on his estate will be that much reduced.

America surely support the Atlantic steamship companies. On Saturday, July 17, ten liners left the Port of New York filled with pleasure seekers, and not a week passes without several shiploads of emigrants entering the country.

If Mr. MacVough is a typical bond man, announcement will soon be forthcoming that the Government's $397,000,000 Panama issue has been heavily oversubscribed and that applicants will receive only a small percent of the amount asked for.

Janesville has been particularly free of crooks and thieves and if property holders would see to it that their homes were closed during their absence this condition would continue.

Antiblasts just learning should be taken out into the country to practice on chickens and pigs and not given a chance to experiment on human lives.

The fear that France will send a fleet of submarines over the channel to invade Merle England has been postponed owing to the fact that French Aviators find the channel is very wet.

A Spanish Pretender has died but there is still enough Pretenders left in Europe to meet any demand that is made.

Mr. Taft is holding all the cards in his suit case downwards. His friends in the senate would like to get a peep at them.

Theodore would probably have done the same thing as Taft did but he would have used more fire works to do it.

Why do handsome women always run in fat women's races at pleasures right in front of the cameras.

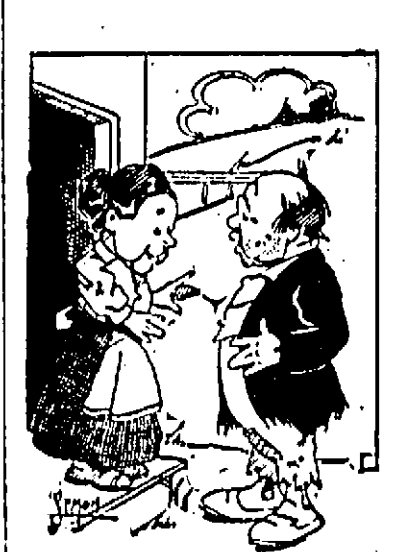

So the South American republics really mean to get down to actual fighting after all.

Boston plans a pension bank for old maid. Here is another knock at matrimony.

Chicago has started a crusade on dogs. Why not Janesville?

FANTILIAN SOUNDS.
Janes—What is all that noise I hear from your house?
Jones—I suppose you mean my noise. We have a baby grand. But what is all that racket I hear from yours?
Janes—We have a grand baby.

WOULD STAND BESIDE IT.
Janes—Is it you your sister, would you mind a little hard work?
Tramp—Not at all, lady; I would mind it for hours.

Keep Character Unspotted.
If you would have the respect, not to mention the confidence, of your fellows, you must keep the cloak of character virgin white; never allow its luster to be dimmed by the breath of suspicion or soiled by the mud of wrongdoing.—Dr. Madison C. Peters.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

JOHN EARLY, AMERICAN LEPER.

"Unclean! Unclean!"

How that age-long cry of the leper has vexed the heavens and assailed the ear in the far east!

There the ancient law of Moses holds. The clothes must be rent, the bond bare. "He shall put covering over his upper lip and cry: 'Unclean! Unclean!' And he shall dwell alone. Without the camp shall his habitation be."

And it is so today in the orient. But—

In America, across the Potomac river, beyond the green marsh lands and under the great sycamore trees, in his "dog tent" dwells alone John Early, American citizen, leper. And across his forehead spreads the sign of the world's oldest, most horrible disease.

And his case is only one of 278 KNOWN CASES OF LEPROSY in this country.

John Early was for nine years a soldier of the United States army. When leprosy attacked him he wore the uniform of the Salvation Army—a soldier of the common good.

Now he is a legal outcast.

Day following day he "dwells without the camp." He does not cry "Unclean!" because none will approach his solitary place. His eyes turn across the sedge marshes and the slow moving river, where dwell, in the Capital City, his wife and child, whom he may see at a distance, but whom he may never touch.

John Early is brave.

He is strong in his faith that prayer and a new drug will cure the plague. He says he wants to show that faith and his medicine will cure the leprosy and give other lepers hope.

But—

What are his fellow men distinguished as humane, what is society, doing for this man?

Here is a good American citizen, stricken in awful malady, thrust brutally out in the wilderness to die. Any humane society would do more for wounded dog!

And John Early's case is similar to that of the other 277 American lepers. Proof of this indictment?

Congress has tried to set aside a leper colony. Every time a location is named the people of the community object, and the bill is defeated.

And this is the year of our Lord 1909!

As through this vale of tears I tread, I notice many a curious thing; the crowd that's crowding overhead would teach the role in how to slug; the male will tell the racing mure that how to trot around the track; the man who hasn't any hair knows how to bring your ringlets back. The fan who couldn't throw a ball with vim enough to hit a church, when on the bleachers knows it all, and calls the pitcher from his perch. The loafer who has not a cent, who draws his rations from the town, knows all the curves of government, and calls the House and Senate down. The blacksmith pauses long enough to tell the preacher how to preach; the grocer drops his prunes and stuff, to teach the pedagogue to teach. The poet claws his wooden harp, and fumbles with his broken string, until some life insurance sharp comes up and tells him how to slug. Some woe of life would quickly fade, and hopes would be less thick, perhaps, if every fellow knew his trade as well as he knows Father chap's.

LIVE WIRES.

Norbert Wiener, youngest college graduate in the world.

Medford, Mass.—Norbert Wiener, the lad who graduated from Tufts college recently at the age of 14 years, with the bachelor of arts degree, is the youngest college graduate in the world. He entered Tufts college, fully prepared, at the age of 10, after a phenomenal course of work in the high schools. He took up the full academic course at Tufts and some additional studies, and now he is hooked for more degrees, according to his father, Prof. Leo Wiener. Professor Wiener says that he intends to have his son enter Harvard in the fall, to study biology, but to take it as the senior year, so as to get the Harvard A. B. degree in 1910. This will make him the youngest student who ever graduated at Harvard with a degree. After that he will probably study biology in a German university for two years. After that Professor Wiener plans to have him take both his M. D. and Ph. D. degrees, either abroad or in America.

Janesville, O.—The Janesville team, member of the club, and while of average in the Central league possesses two ball, looks small by contrast with the Central league pitcher. Walker was formerly in the big of the pitching staff stands 6 feet 10 inches with Cleveland. He went 6 inches high and weighs 247 pounds, along nicely until a club hunted on while the classy second sacker and him one day. He has been with heavy hitter, Davy Lloyd, is the small Janesville since.

Best man in the circuit. Both men. This year he leads the Central league in playing good minor league ball, quo in batting, with .480 for the 10 Roy Montgomery is the new man, games in which he has taken part.

The Lure of the Out-Of-Doors is in the Air

Doesn't it call to you? It's appeal is strong, to get away from the dust and noise, to the out-doors, the country, the fields, the river.

To get the utmost enjoyment, if you obey the call, we suggest that you try a trip up the river. Along the banks are many ice-cold springs which make dandy stopping places for luncheon. The ever varying scenery of the shore line and the picturesque beauty of the river lend interest and delight to every mile of the trip.

It offers you a most enjoyable way to spend a day, an afternoon or an evening, at a nominal cost. Our charges are moderate.

Painless Dentistry

This A. M. a patient said as I extracted a badly ulcerated tooth, "Why, Doctor, that didn't hurt." "Of course not," said I.

"Well, that's what I had heard, but I never believed it before."

You may never be able to believe it until you have faith enough to let me do your dentistry.

It is a pleasure to me to see the look of relief upon my patients' faces when they discover that I really have not hurt them.

I know that my work is good work. I know that my prices are the most reasonable in the city.

My patients tell me that I hurt them the least of any Dentist they ever employed.

And these things are what I aim to keep doing and deservng.

JANESVILLE PEOPLE READ MANY VOLUMES

Circulation of Books at Library During Past Year Totalled 65,592.

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1930, according to the report of the public library board submitted to the common council Monday night, the circulation of books was 65,592, 38,715 being lent to adults and 2,545 to the children. The total number of those holding library cards, July 1, 1930, was 6,767; 4,220 adults and 2,545 children. During the past year 478 adults have been granted the right to draw books from the library, with 219 additional patron cards, making 696 additional patrons. The total number of those allowed the privileges of the library is 7,461.

On July 1, 1930 there were on the shelves of the library, 20,242 volumes, of which there were 16,779 in the adult's department and 3,463 in the children's section. Purchases of 368 books, 408 for adults and 400 for children, were made in the past year. Added to the number were one hundred and two volumes bound for the adults, and for children, four, totaling one hundred and six. Donations of volumes placed at the disposal of the library were 142, and four for children, aggregating 146. The grand total amounted to 21,362, but 874 volumes were withdrawn from circulation so that at present there are on the shelves for public use, 20,488 volumes.

From various sources the library has received money as follows:

Balance on hand July 1, 1929	$ 344.62
Appropriation	5,000.00
Fines	54.65
Rent of hall	48.50
Money borrowed	1,000.00
Total	$6,447.17

With expenditures amounting to $5,306.67, $500 of which was expended by the trustees for repairs, the balance of cash on hand at the present time is $1,140.51.

CONTINUES CASE OF MALT MEAD SELLER

Milton Man Will Fight the Case Brought by the State Authorities.

William Shenault of Milton, who is charged with selling intoxicants at his hotel, did not appear for trial at the municipal court yesterday, but his case was continued until next Tuesday by agreement of both attorneys. Although Shenault does not deny that he has been selling Malt Mead, he asserts that the company who manufacture it claim that it is non-intoxicating, he was not aware that he was breaking the law in any respect. The state authorities hold that the drink contains more alcohol than the law permits in temperance drinks while it is understood that the brewery that has put it on the market states that they have complied with the law.

RETURNS THE MONEY TO THE APPLICANTS

City Clerk Cummings Has Completed The Transfer of Funds Back to Rejected Saloon Applicants.

City Clerk Roy Cummings yesterday returned to each of the three applicants whose requests for saloon licenses were turned down by the common council, the $500 which is required must be deposited as a license fee. It is said that after the claims of P. A. Taylor and several others had been satisfied, the amount of Wm. Carroll's original deposit was considerably depleted.

INTERURBAN COMPANY WANTS FRANCHISE?

Report Is That If Local Company Is Disenfranchised Rockford & Interurban Co. Will Seek Rights.

Rumor says that three companies desire the franchise to operate the lines over the streets where the local street car line now has the right to run their cars. One of these, the Cincinnati Construction company has been dickering for the line for some time, but the holes of the Illinois estate in Philadelphia, who own the line have held the selling price so high as to be prohibitive. The report now is that the Rockford and Interurban company would like to secure a franchise to run the line, and the same thing is desired by the company back of the contemplated line between Prospect, Ill., and Madison, Wis. If the Rockford & Interurban company secured the rights the line would not doubt be improved and extended and made the equal of the Holist street car system, which they now have charge of, and which is proving a grand success. An equally good system would probably be put in by the Madison-Frontier corporation. If the common council comply with the City Attorney's request that the franchise of the Janesville Street Car Company be annulled unless it gives satisfactory service and decent rolling stock for its patrons to ride in, and the Madison street refused to do so, the matter would, without doubt, be taken into the courts for settlement. In case the city went in on these suits, there is no question but that the two interurban lines would be strong holders for right to operate here.

Mr. Maxwell's action has caused much comment, almost entirely commendatory, for the local system has become a sort of laughing stock for out-of-town visitors who see it or ride in it.

PICKPOCKETS WORKED AROUND THE TRAIN

Gang of Three Relieved Dr. Sutherland of Pocketbook at North Western Depot Last Night.

Last evening at seven o'clock, while assisting a young lady guest to board the Chicago passenger train at the North Western station, Dr. Charles Sutherland was robbed of a pocketbook containing about two dollars by three pickpockets, whom it is thought boarded the next train for Madison and thus escaped capture.

The robbery occurred while Dr. Sutherland was carrying two suit cases up the steps of the coach. Previous to this, he had purchased a cigar in the lunch room where the three pickpockets had seen him place the money in his hip pocket. Following him to the train, two of them mounted the steps and halted, pretending to look for someone, while the third crowded the doctor from the rear, seizing this opportunity lift the purse. Although he felt sure he had been robbed, the doctor neglected to turn in an alarm, and after making several calls, notified Officer Mason who was walking his beat on River Street and who immediately notified Chief Appleby.

The chief at once ordered the night force to arrest all suspicious characters found hanging around the station and at eight o'clock, officers John Brown and Morrissey rounded up four young rascals who were taken to the chief's office and examined. They gave their names as Andrew Sigler, Joe Moscovitz, Eddie Kosowski and Joe Moscovitz, claiming that they lived in Chicago and were on their way to the Dakota harvest fields. They incriminated themselves in no way and when Dr. Sutherland was called in this morning to see if he could identify anyone of them, he declared that they were not the persons who crowded him. The pickpockets, so far as he was able to remember, were older, while the suspects were none of them of age. They were turned loose this morning.

Albert Olson, who was injured at the Five Points last night, was reported to be one of the gang, but the four prisoners denied that they knew him or had ever seen him before.

SOME CAPTURED DOGS OF WAR

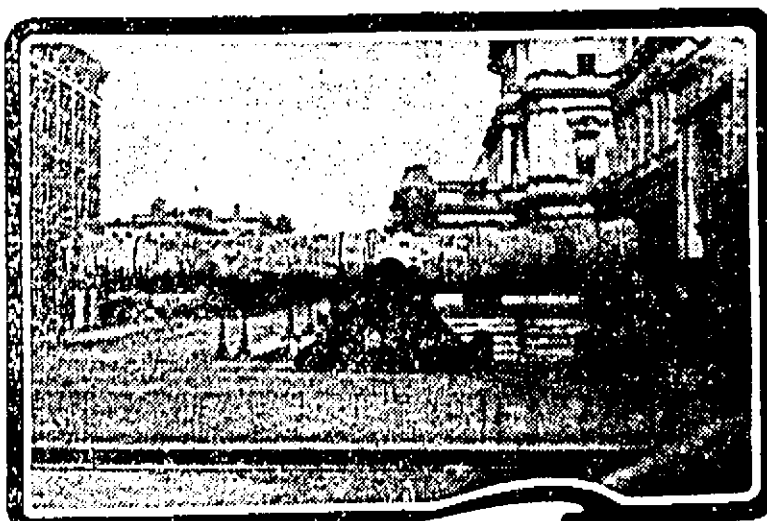

By Thomas Wilson

Spanish Mortar

Gun Captured by Dewey at Cavite

A Relic of the Revolution English Gun Captured at Stary Point

Interesting Spoils of Victory That Have Been Preserved.

THE history of man is largely a record of war, it seems but natural that there should have originated the idea of retaining the spoils of the defeated foe and to keep them as relics and examples of prowess for the coming generations to gaze on and reflect upon the courage of their fathers.

The clearing of a vanquished foe is necessary, for the best way to keep a man from fighting is to take from him the means, and then, too, everyone has instilled within their soul a longing for something to show for that which has been accomplished.

Every tribe and every nation under the sun has its trophies of war. The natives of the innermost portions of the Dark Continent have their spoils taken from neighboring tribes, and while they may be insignificant as compared to some of the trophies possessed by great nations they are, nevertheless, just as dear, as they represent hard-earned, dearly bought victories and are monuments to the warriors who gave their lives in order that their people might procure that which they sought, be it what it may.

The pomp and militant-loving nations of Europe have their trophies of war, and though they may have lost some of their flags and emblems to other nations, they still have and are immensely proud of those that they have taken from the enemy, and these they cherish and treasure.

England and Germany make a most excellent use of some of the iron and bronze cannon that they have captured in conflicts, for from the metal is made the medals that are bestowed upon those who show exceptional courage in risking their lives to save others.

What bit of metal has more significance or sentimental value than the simple iron Victorian cross of England or the iron cross of Germany? It is not what the little crosses are, but what they represent that makes them so valued in the sight of men, and those who wear them may indeed feel honored.

On special occasions the Emperor of Germany has medals of bronze struck off and the metal of these is taken from old cannon, trophies of the battlefield. More than that, in Berlin there stands a huge monument to those who perished in the Franco-Prussian conflict, and the chief ornamentation consists of rows of captured cannon.

Nor is the United States far behind in the possession of trophies of its wars. Every conflict has yielded its spoils, and many of these striking incidents of history are vividly recalled by the old cannon to be seen at the nation's capital.

These weapons, representing the highest development of their respective times, and which spoke in tones of thunder and buried their missiles of death across a hundred fields of carnage in obedience to the orders of the greatest soldiers of the day, are now, as far as their efficiency as firearms is concerned, but worthless metal, standing as grim reminders of the past.

These trophies of the nation at Washington are in various places—in the museum, at the navy yard, at Arlington, in the great gun park, in the angles and upon the steps of the State, War and Navy Building and in many of the little grass plots with which the city is dotted.

In number they run into the hundreds, and they include specimens of the finest, as well as the crudest, engines of death that mark the successive epochs of the use of gunpowder. Many of the cannon are of the highest grade of bronze, exquisitely ornamented and are really works of art.

Of such a character is the Louis Charles gun that stands on the east side of the north entrance to the State, War and

Navy Building. Cut deep into its verdigris-encrusted metal is the inscription that tells that it was cast on July 27, 1719, at Douay, France, by Jean Maritz. Surrounded by ornate chasing is embellished the fleur-de-lis of the Bourbon house, the crown of old France, the French coat of arms, a blazing sun and the legend "Dieu et Mon Droit"—the motto of Louis XIV. On the base, or what would be the breech of a modern gun, is inscribed "Louis Charles de Bourbon, Comte d'Eu, Duc d'Anjou."

Opposite this gun stands another example of the French gunmaker, that was cast in Douay in 1693. This gun has carved upon it its name: La Paroche. The French and upon it is also inscribed the motto of Louis XIV.

Two other French guns, of similar size and like ornamentation, but with the names El Helicon and Gardania inscribed upon them, serve to ornament another entrance to the building. These guns, however, are later models than the others, having been cast in 1750.

This quartet of weapons, each weighing about three pounds, are trophies of the Spanish-American War, and they were taken from the fortifications at Santiago de Cuba. How the Spaniards came to get them, whether they bought or captured them, is not known, but at any event they are valuable trophies.

The Spanish-American War resulted in a veritable harvest of trophies in the shape of old weapons of every kind, and especially in cannon and mortars. While the Spaniards had a few modern guns in Cuba and in the Philippines, they also had scores of old forts in which the old cannon served just as well to awe the natives, who had weapons of even less importance. So numerous were the old cannon that practically every captain of a naval vessel was permitted to send a gun or two to his native state, and thus in many cities one may find these Spanish trophies.

A beautiful bronze mortar, with a caliber of 6.50 inches, that was cast in Seville, Spain, on November 10, 1759, is another of the ornaments of the State, War and Navy Building. There are also many other historic old cannon around this building. Two huge bronze cannon, each weighing between 4,000 and 5,000 pounds, that stand at one of the entrances are grim reminders of the Revolution and of one of its most desperate battles, the storming of Minto Point on the night of July 15, 1776, by the gallant troops under Anthony Wayne.

Other guns to be found within the shadow of this handsome building include a howitzer known as the Lone Star, a gun that was presented to the Republic of Texas after its strife. Two guns, named San Mateo and San Marcos, respectively, are relics of the Mexican War. There were four of these guns, each named for one of the evangelists. One of them, the San Lucas, is at the Military Service Institute, in New York, while the other, the San Juan, is at Fremont, N. J., in the Burdett Library.

A large collection of captured cannon is to be found in the Washington Navy Yard, and just as one enters the main gate there is to be found a gun that has as much, if not more, historical interest than almost any other. On the gun carriage is found the history in brief, as follows:

This gun was one of the main battery of the French seventy-four gun ship Hoche. She was captured by the English and her battery sold to America. This gun then served on a Italian privateer, and afterwards was returned to New York, and lay in South street for several years. It was then mounted on the American privateer Gen eral Armstrong and by its aid a boat attack by an English squadron on the night of September 29, 1814, in Pearl Harbor, was repulsed, with a loss of life to the attacking force of 120 killed, 180 wounded and nearly all of their boats destroyed. The American loss was two killed and eight wounded. The privateer was sunk to prevent its falling into the hands of the enemy, and this gun was many years afterwards dug out of the mud of the harbor and presented to the United States by the Portuguese government.

Between the lines of this inscription is to be read one of the most interesting and important events in the history of the War of 1812, for this little vessel was instrumental in making possible the victory of General Jackson over the British under General Pakenham at New Orleans.

A British squadron, comprising the ships Plantagenet, Carnation and Bots, were en route to the Gulf of Mexico with reinforcements for General Pakenham in the New Orleans campaign, and they put into Patal for minor stores. To their surprise, the British found the General Armstrong at anchor, and, despite it being a neutral port, determined upon the capture of the ship.

When night fell four barges, containing 100 men, were sent to cut out the American; but the shipper of the little ship was not caught napping, and he drove them off with a heavy loss. Then the enemy attacked with 14 barges and 500 men; but even this force was vanquished. Chagrin and consternation made the British furious, and at daybreak the Carnation opened fire with her big guns. The American replied and bulled her to such an extent that she had to withdraw. Then the larger ship, the Plantagenet, took up the fight, and the Americans, realizing that they were out-gunned, turned their guns down a hatch, sending balls through the bottom of their vessel, and at the same time setting her on fire. Then they escaped in their small boats.

So bad were the injuries to the Carnation that it was 30 days before she was ready for sea. This delay was fatal to General Pakenham, who, despairing of the promised reinforcements, made his attack with disastrous results. Just 10 days later than the appointed time the trio of Englishmen sailed in, but it was too late, the opportunity had been lost, and all on account of the little General Armstrong.

Two other guns in the Navy Yard are silent reminders of another brilliant naval conflict in the Barbary States War, and they bear this inscription:

"On the 31st day of August, 1804, Capt. Stephen Decatur, in command of an American gunboat off Tripoli, boarded and captured in succession two Tripolitan gunboats armed with this and the adjacent gun."

It was in the capture of one of these guns that Decatur so narrowly escaped with his life, receiving an ugly wound, it had singled out the captain on the gunboat and engaged him. In warding off a thrust of a pike his cutlass broke and the next blow he parried with his naked arm. He then grappled with his adversary and the two fell to the deck, where, when the Tripolitan was gaining the advantage, an American sailor went to his officer's rescue.

In a huge pile in the Navy Yard are many Civil War guns taken from Confederate ships Alabama, Arkansas, Florida and others, and from the defenses of Port Hudson. Some of these guns, which were spiked and rendered useless, were only captured after the most desperate struggles.

There are also many war relics at the other Navy Yards at Norfolk, New York, Portsmouth, League Island, Mare Island and elsewhere, while there are also many exceedingly interesting ones at the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

The most interesting gun at the Naval Academy is one that was cast in Barcelona, Spain, in 1502, of bronze and a muzzle-loader. In 1877, at Seville, the gun was remodeled, rifled and fitted with a breechlock. Then it was sent to the Philippines, and when Admiral Dewey attacked Manila it fired on the American fleet from Cavite. Later the Philippine secured the gun, mounted it on a crude carriage and used it against the Spaniards in the summer of 1898. The following year the Philippines turned the gun on the American troops. Then the Americans took it away from them and sent it to the Naval Academy, along with a lot of other trophies.

"LAZY BUG" FOUND IN SOUTHERN ARMY

SURGEON GENERAL SAYS IT IS COMMON IN THE SOUTH. LAND.

ARMY RECRUITS AFFLICTED

Soldiers Enlisted in the Southern States Infected with Parasite, But Nearly All Recover Soon from the Anemia That Results.

Washington, July 21.—Investigations of the physical condition of army recruits has developed the fact that the hook worm, or "lazy bug," has affected the people of the south, according to the forthcoming report of the surgeon general of the United States army.

When the hook worm, referred to in the medical world as uncinariaria, was declared to be prevalent in Porto Rico, resulting in a tendency to indolence on the part of the patient who otherwise appeared in usual health, there was no suggestion that this peculiar parasite infected people in the United States. Through the very careful and thorough methods that have been adopted in the United States army, both in the selection of recruits and in the care of men after their enlistment, this disease has been shown to exist to a large extent.

Found in Southern Soldiers. This investigation has been progressing quietly during the last six or seven months, so that when Surgeon General Torney makes up his annual report he will have much data to prove the prevalence of the hook worm among soldiers enlisted from southern states. These recruits passing through the army depot at Port of Spain, N. Y., were examined to the number of 140, 109 of them being infected with the parasite. West Virginia, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama and Tennessee all supplied recruits that were infected.

While the hook worm was so largely prevalent, in only two instances in this series of investigations was the anemia sufficiently severe to cause the rejection of the man. After being treated all of the infected soldiers gained in weight and improved in physical condition generally.

Recover After Joining Army. Recruits from southern states who have been in the army several years show a tendency toward the elimination of the disease. This is partly accounted for on the theory that the regular life and nourishing food, together with daily enforced exercise, often result in recovery from the infection.

It has been estimated that the campaign waged by the army against the hook worm in Porto Rico resulted in saving of more than 5,000 lives annually. The surgeon-general may suggest the possibility of instituting some campaign against the disease in the south, but under present conditions it is said but little can be done except through the agency of state governments.

CLEMENCEAU CABINET QUILTS.

Members Resign After Hot Debate Over French Naval Scandal.

Paris, July 21.—The Clemenceau cabinet fell suddenly last night under dramatic circumstances, at the conclusion of a violent debate over the naval scandal, extending over several days.

M. Delcasse, chairman of the investigating commission, led the attack upon the naval administration.

Premier Clemenceau wanted the resignation of foreign affairs, who was thrown overboard by the Rouvier ministry at the election of Germany during the crisis of 1905, with having led France to humiliation at Algeiras. The specter of that chapter of France's foreign history in which Delcasse was sacrificed was a fatal error. The scene when the premier took his seat was indescribable. Amid the wildest excitement the vote was taken and when it was announced that the government had been beaten 212 to 176, Clemenceau rushed to the Elysee palace and told the story to President Fallieres, who seemed stupefied at the incident, which caused the fall of the cabinet, but he accepted the resignation of the premier and his ministers.

Texas Town Destroyed by Fire. Houston, Tex., July 21.—The town of Brownfield, Tex., together with the mill and stock of the Kirby Lumber Company, valued at $250,000, were destroyed. Communication with Brownfield was cut off during the progress of the fire, the flames reaching the telegraph office.

Bust of Hill for Seattle Fair. New York, July 21.—A bronze bust of James J. Hill has been completed in Brooklyn and will be shipped at once to the Seattle exposition, where it will be unveiled on August 3, Minnesota day. The bust is said to be the largest of its kind in the world, weighing 1,700 pounds.

Taft Is Going to Denver. Denver, Col., July 21.—A message from Representative Edward T. Taylor announced that President Taft had accepted the invitation to attend the trans-Mississippi commercial congress here August 16.

Dynamite Blast Kills Six. Easton, Pa., July 21.—Six men, employed on the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad's cut-off work, were killed several miles from Blakelytown, N. J., by a dynamite blast.

NEGRO HANGED BY MOB.

Second Attempt to Lynch Paducah Black Is Successful.

Paducah, Ky., July 21.—Without firing a shot a mob took Albert Lawson, the negro who shot Sheriff R. M. Compton at Paris, Tenn., Sunday, from the Paris jail last night and hanged him to a mulberry tree a few yards from the prison.

An attempt was made in the afternoon to lynch Lawson, but as the negro, with a rope around his neck, pleaded, more conservative men and the county officials appeared on the scene and begged the crowd to allow the law to take its course.

Michigan Probate Judges Meet. Muskegon, Mich., July 21.—The thirteenth annual meeting of the Association of Probate Judges of Michigan began in real earnest today, after a social session last evening, when the jurists were welcomed by Mayor Hietdyk. This morning there were addresses by the president, Judge Carl Frank, and by Judges C. E. Cone and S. A. Graham, and in the afternoon Judge W. A. Small spoke. Later there will be lunch, a banquet, an exhibition drill by life-savers and a banquet given by the Muskegon bar. The meeting closes to-morrow.

No Clue to Clarkson.

Kenosha, Wis., July 21.—All clues to the whereabouts of Judge Joseph R. Clarkson, who disappeared last week from Kenosha, were found to be valueless when automobile parties visited every place where Clarkson was supposed to have been seen without getting any better information.

You can't expect to keep up with the procession if you stand on the sidewalk and watch the parade pass by.

TARIFF BILL IS NOW IN DEADLOCK

PAYNE AND ALDRICH IN SERIOUS DISPUTE OVER BILL'S PROVISIONS.

TAFT AS THE PEACEMAKER

President May Settle Controversy at Dinner To-Night—House Passes Deficiency Law and Gives Executive $25,000 Traveling Expenses.

Washington, July 21.—This promises to be a fateful day for the tariff bill. The conferees are in a deadlock and Payne and Aldrich are fighting for supremacy. If President Taft succeeds in settling the dispute his mastery over the situation will be supreme.

The tariff bill was hoisted above the bickering of congressional conferees and transferred bodily from the capitol to the White House. Deadlocked because of the attitude of Representative Payne, who apparently has become obsessed with the growing conviction that he is in the minority, the conferees abandoned the usual afternoon session. Senator Aldrich and Speaker Cannon repaired to the White House post-haste to consult with President Taft, literally taking the tariff bill with them.

What happened at the White House between the president and the senate and house leaders is a sealed book. When Messrs. Aldrich and Cannon returned to the capitol they minimized the differences that had aroused bitterness in the conference room, and insisted that nothing unusual had occurred. Senator Aldrich said that to-morrow would find the conference committee again at work, and he expected that by to-night, when all the conferees are to be entertained by the president at dinner, most of the problems apart from those receiving the personal attention of the president would have been solved.

Payne and Fordney Clash. Nevertheless there has been trouble behind those closed and guarded doors that shut the public from the room where the real tariff bill is being constructed. Some say that the differences between Senator Aldrich and Representative Payne have taken such form that progress is impossible unless the president has influence enough to compel action. This story is denied by both of the principals. It is not denied, however, that there was a clash yesterday between Representative Payne and Representative Fordney of Michigan over the lumber schedule.

A conference of the progressive Republican senators was held immediately after the senate adjourned. There were present Senators Nelson, Clapp, Dooliver, Cummins, Burdett, Brown, Haveridge, Bristow, Crawford and Borah. All except Mr. Borah voted against the adoption of the senate bill. Senator La Follette was not in the city. An effort was made to agree upon some program, but after a discussion of political exigencies and conditions in the senators' respective states it was stated that all of those present could not vote against the conference report if it is framed so as to meet with the president's approval.

House Passes Deficiency Bill. The urgent deficiency bill was passed by the house after four days of tempestuous debate. The amount carried by it is $151,809, or $25,408 more than the original sum, and includes the $25,000 traveling expenses for the president.

The session began calm enough, but as the day wore on the members got into a more or less surly mood and this led to a succession of objections to amendments and to almost every one of the remaining paragraphs, some of which were sustained.

Supreme Court Defied. After denying the usual extra month's pay to officers and employees of the capitol, the house threw out of the bill the allowance for extra work to committee stenographers, and then turned in and refused to carry out a mandate of the United States supreme court for the payment to J. M. Cahalan & Co. of New York of $205,614.

The long-established custom of granting officers and employees of congress an extra month's salary each year was swept away when Mr. Wagner of Pennsylvania, the presiding officer, sustained a point of order made by Mr. Macon of Arkansas against the proposition. In vain did Mr. Olmsted of Pennsylvania, the father of the proposed appropriation, plead for the withdrawal of the point.

Messrs. Macon and Sisson of Mississippi were especially antagonistic. They practically charged graft and said the time had arrived to put an end to it.

Pittsburg Has Big Blaze. Pittsburg, Pa., July 21.—A spectacular fire which did about $75,000 damage broke out yesterday in the four-story brick building at 520 Federal street, North side, occupied by the Kirby Shoe Company. The Star theater building adjoining was soon afire, and the eight-story building of the Real Estate Saving and Trust Company, at 518 Federal street, was threatened.

To Test Battleship Michigan. Philadelphia, Pa., July 21.—The battleship Michigan, built by the New York Shipbuilding Company at Camden, N. J., sailed for the Delaware capes, off which points the big warship will complete her official tests, which were interrupted some time ago by the vessel going aground off Cape Cod.

Money in Dead Man's Mouth. Thief Arrested As He Tried to Get the Cash.

New York, July 21.—Michael Murphy was interrupted in an undertaking establishment last night in the cheerful operation of prying open the mouth of a corpse. He was arrested. Murphy says the man, Andrew Erickson, was a friend of his and that he was looking for money. Examination revealed three five-dollar bills in the dead man's mouth. They had been there since last Sunday when Erickson met death in Jamaica bay.

Murphy said he and Erickson had hired a drunken sailor to a boat and had robbed him. Then an ear broke and Erickson, stalling part of the money in his mouth to keep it dry, jumped overboard after the ear. The police think Murphy killed Erickson.

SENDS HIS THANKS FOR THE DONATIONReverend Jenkin Lloyd Jones Acknowledges Hundred Dollars Sent Him By The All Souls Society.

During the Seventies, Reverend Jenkin Lloyd Jones, the noted divine who has a large church in Chicago, was one of Janesville's pastors and his church, All Souls, stood where the Woods Plaza now stands. Jeremy and Jones is one of the great men of the country and always has a warm spot in his heart for Janesville. He has founded what is known as the Unity Publishing Company which he is seeking to endow suitably so that the work he has begun may be continued after he drops the reins of management. Within the past few days the All Souls society of Janesville composed of former members of his church here, sent him a hundred dollars to add to this endowment fund. The following letter has been received acknowledging the same which will be of interest to his friends and well wishers in this city.

Tower Hill, Wis., July 12, 1909.
I have heard of broad cast upon the waters coming back after many days. This is a case of broad coming back as cake. Nothing has touched me for many days more than this recognition of my old friends—the original All Souls Church of my affection. I don't know how to put in a letter the gratitude and affection your letter awakened. It confirms in a tender way the faith in which, however tried, I have never lost—that a piece of honest work, sincerely done, cannot utterly fail.

Judged by any outward results, my nearly ten years' work in Janesville has brought little to show, and things seem to be as if I had not been, but I will believe that something remains, and this bit of paper, representing a hundred dollars worth of good will to be redoubled in the interest of the work and the word we once deliberately together, reassures me.

I am glad of this occasion to say to you all that the All Souls Church in Chicago, Unity, and the Abraham Lincoln Centre, and anything else I may have been able to do, have all been the outcome of the seed planted in Janesville during the seventies.

Whatever became of the other seeds, those planted in my own heart and head have been this fruit.

I hope some things have grown more clear since those days, perhaps there has been some unconscious shifting emphasis, but as far as I understand myself, I still stand for the things I then stood for, and the joy of working for an open church, but a real faith and devout emotions, has increased with the years.

The hair is now gray that was black when I left you, the eyes now need spectacles that then needed none, but my heart, I believe, is still as young as then, certainly the joy of life is real and my faith in the future is more confident, and best of all, way down in the subconscious realms of my soul, I am still pastor of a real All Souls Church in Janesville. In my dreams the fellowship comes often strangely to the surface, and in the more spontaneous waking movements of my mind I still am thinking of the Janesville friends as my people.

As to the Unity Endowment Fund,
it is growing very slowly. If I live long enough I will reach my mark, but I am not going to worry even if it fails to reach the full $20,000.00.
The funds acquired will be held sacred for some high use. Should Unity die, even as All Souls Church in Janesville died, I shall believe that its Message will still be vital, and that somehow it will continue to find its messengers.

With much love to every one of you, I am Yours for Auld Lang Syne, and as much for The Kingdom to come.

JENKINS LLOYD JONES.

WINS HER HEART.

Food that Helps Baby and the Family
Pleases Mother.

Show a mother how to feed her baby so that it will be healthy, rosy and plump and grow up strong and sturdy and the mother's gratitude is everlasting.

A mother says: "Five weeks ago I weaned baby but could not get her to take any kind of food until I tried Grape-Nuts which she relished from the first, and on it she has plumped up and blossomed into a fat, chubby little girl."

"I feed Grape-Nuts to her regularly
—use three packages a week for baby and my three-year-old boy alone, and I find that it regulates and keeps them nourished, strong and in good health
all the time."

"Since feeding my children on Grape-Nuts I have used absolutely no medicine for either of them. Such food as this that does such wonders for its way to a mother's heart, please accept our thanks for the good your food has done in our family
where we all are well."

Children will grow up strong and healthy, or weak and puny according to the food they get.

Grape-Nuts is a complete and perfect food for adults and children. It is made on scientific lines and this is easily proved by trial.

Look in packs for a copy of the famous little book, "The Road to Wellville." "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

WRIGHT FLIES 70 MILES;
BREAKS OWN AIR RECORDAmazes Large Crowd in Test Lasting
More Than an Hour at Fort Myer.

Washington, July 21.—In a 70-mile flight lasting one hour, 20 minutes and 46 seconds, Orville Wright at Fort Myer last evening broke the American record for airplanes. The former record, held by himself, was 74 minutes.

During the entire flight the machine was under perfect control, but several times appeared to the spectators to be on the point of diving forward.

Several thousand persons were given an exhibition which included the most daring feats of aviation yet accomplished, and at its conclusion a mighty cheer went up from the throng.

The machine traveled a distance of about 70 miles, it was estimated by Wright, and at one time during the flight the height attained, between 200 and 250 feet, exceeded the highest point ever reached by a heavier than air machine on this continent. The most wonderful part of the flight was the execution of three complete "figure eights" which required careful maneuvering in directing the machine.

STRIKE SETTLED BY PRIEST.

Newcastle, Pa., July 21.—An attempt to conduct 125 alleged strike breakers through the city on their way to the tin mills caused a riot
last evening, in which one man was seriously injured, and scores of others beaten and bruised.

Butler, Pa., July 21.—The strike which for four days has tied up the Standard Steel Car Company's works has been settled and the 3,500 employees of the plant returned to work this morning. The strike was brought to an end through the efforts of Rev. Father P. Heczwalski of the Polish Catholic church.

Pittsburg, Pa., July 21.—Judges
Marshall and Brown of the common pleas court sustained the demurrer of the Pressed Steel Car Company of McKees Rocks to the petition for injunction made by the Public Defense association of Pittsburgh against the company, the striking employees and the sheriff of Allegheny county.

When the strikers heard that they had lost their standing in court, ugly rumors were circulated as to what the car company officials might expect from now on in the way of rioting and general disorder.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

THE children with which the average parent, while he attends with thoroughness to the bodily outfit of his offspring, cheerfully leaves all care of his mental outfit to the outsiders is astonishing to me.

As far as any mental up-bringing that they get at home, most children can say with Topsy, "I just growed."

Children don't do all their learning and thinking in school. Why not try in some degree to direct that which they do at home?

Talk with your children on the topics of the day. Read the newspapers with them and talk over the news.

Most boys read the papers anyway so all you will need to do for them is to try and help them choose the news worth while to read.

Young girls, from what I have observed, seldom read the papers at all. I don't believe I ever more than glanced at a paper until I was 20 or 21. As a consequence when a professor at college gave a little test to see what we knew of affairs of the day, I actually could not give the name of the representative from my own district or of either of my own senators.

President Jackson of the University of Chicago says that the newspaper is as great an educator as the college. Help your children to get the advantage of this influence and the full advantage. Advise and suggest books for them to read.

I don't believe children get much harm from the books they read, even though their reading is indiscriminate. The harm in indiscriminate reading comes from what they fail to read. Try not to forbid a child to read anything. If possible keep him as busy reading the good that he won't have time for the bad or foolish books.

Read with your children. I know of one boy who was inclined to be wild whose mother kept him in evenings almost a whole winter by reading "Low Mberables" with him.

If possible, encourage your children to learn poetry. No matter if they don't fully understand it.

Remembering and appreciating the poetry one learned without understanding it as a child is like finding the stones one picked up for pebbles turned into jewels.

For the next month and a half your children will be wholly in your care, both mentally and physically.

I do not advise you to force them to mental effort. I should be the last to suggest that.

But you will find that their minds simply will not stop working with the last day of school.

Why not try to give them something worth while to work on?

LARGEST FLAG IN THE WORLD. Flag presented to the city of Pittsburgh on July 5.

Pittsburg, Pa.—Hanging over the street by a wire suspended from the courthouse to the Prieke building opposite was seen on the morning of July 5 the largest American flag ever constructed under the requirements of the United States government specifications in every particular. It required some ingenious effort to hang the flag and after it was up so great was the strain that it was deemed unsafe and at noon it was removed, the entire block having to be cleared of interested spectators during the time of its being taken down.

The flag is 80 feet wide and 100 feet long, and a man six feet high could just span the width of one of its stripes. The stars are five feet from tip to tip.

The 46 stars on each side of the blue field were sewn with needles in hundreds of patriotic women of Pittsburgh and a number of women from distant points. One of the women lived as far east as Brooklyn, N. Y., and one of them as far as San Francisco.

These patriotic women assembled on four different occasions and worked most diligently to place the half million stitches which hold the stars in place. The flag weighs approximately 1,200 pounds and with the necessary fastenings represents a total weight of about 3,000 pounds.

There are 12,800 square feet of surface in the flag and each seam in order to resist the tendency of the flag being destroyed of its own weight is reinforced by a heavy canvas strip, so placed as to carry the weight of the flag to the header at the top.

Lesson Learned from Nature. It seems to me that to be quiet and to be active, or rather, to be quietly active, constantly going on with untiring energy, and yet so seemingly as scarcely to be perceptible, this seems to me to be an approach toward perfection. And this lesson we learn from nature, which is unceasingly and yet imperceptibly changing.—Anne J. Clough.

F. E. & J. S. FIFIELD

Fulfilling Instructions. The managing editor wheeled his chair around and pushed a button in the wall. "The person wanted entered," "Here," said the editor, "are a number of directions from outsiders as to the best way to run a newspaper. See that they are all carried out." And the office boy, gathering them all into a large waste basket, did so.—Green Bag.

HIGHER SCALE.

Pat—I see they've increased the hog-curers scale.

Prick—Do you mean it?

Pat—Yes. They have to climb up 20 stories now instead of three and four.

SAVES.

Pat—But I tell you what it is. Maudie, if you can't pay back the bill, use—Save it up there. That would be the wisest thing.
